How long will my claim be approved for?

Each claim is managed according to its individual merits. While some claims are paid for a relatively short period of time, others are paid through the maximum duration of the benefit.

The duration of the claim can be affected by:

- The expected recovery period associated with your health condition(s).
- The ability to make reasonable accommodations to your occupation.
- Any other clinical, vocational and contractual factors applicable to your specific situation.

At the time your claim is approved, or during subsequent extensions of your claim, Symetra will advise you of a pay-through date. The date represents the period of time through which the clinical, vocational and/or contractual factors would support a disability claim.

What if I am unable to return to work by the pay-through date?

If you are unable to return to work due to a medical condition on or near the pay-through date indicated by Symetra, updated information will be required to determine if you remain eligible for benefits.

For benefit consideration beyond the pay-through date, you can provide the following information to aid in processing your claim:

- Copies of your provider's office notes from your most recent office visit along with detailed examination findings.
- Copies of any diagnostic testing results, examination evaluations or therapy reports.

While Symetra will reach out to your provider for clinical information, you are encouraged to do so as well. Symetra will review this information upon receipt to determine if you are eligible for additional benefits.

What other information may be helpful to Symetra in determining my claim?

You are welcome to provide Symetra with any information you feel would affect the outcome of the claim, such as:

- The date of your next office visit and current treatment plan.
- Current restrictions or limitations that are preventing you from returning to work.
- Your date of full-duty or light-duty return to work, if applicable.

Symetra will review the information in your claim to determine if you are eligible for additional benefits.

Will my short-term disability claim be approved for the same amount of time as my leave of absence under the Family and Medical Leave Act?

Not always. The requirements for an approved leave of absence under the Family and Medical Act differ from the approval requirements for a short-term disability claim.

It's possible that your short-term disability claim's pay-through date could be longer or shorter than your approved leave of absence.

It's also true that not all employees are eligible for short-term disability benefits and not all employees are eligible for a leave of absence under the Family and Medical Leave Act. See your Human Resources department with coverage questions.

What happens to my other employee benefits while I am collecting short-term disability benefits?

Contact your Human Resources department for questions relating to your other employee benefits.

What other services does Symetra provide to help me during my disability?

After you file your claim, Symetra offers a number of programs to help you through your disability and get you back to work as soon as possible.

Your case manager will explain the counseling, legal and financial support available through our employee assistance program (EAP).

You'll also hear about our health care navigation program that provides access to master- or doctor-level specialists for help with understanding your medical plan benefits, including any services accessed during disability leave. Please note that our employee assistance program and health care navigation program may not be available in all states.

What if my health condition does not enable my return to work?

If your health condition is so severe that you are unable to return to work, check with your employer to determine if you are eligible for long-term disability coverage.

If this benefit is available to you through Symetra and you satisfy the clinical, vocational and/or contractual requirements for long-term disability coverage, your short-term disability claim will be transferred to a long-term disability claim. Your case manager will work with you throughout the process.
